

Jet-Setters Clues

Read the following clues to discover where you are going on vacation, and then fill out the "Jet-Setters" worksheet.

1. Your group has just begun their journey and first leg of your trip will take you to the sight of the 1976 Olympic games. While here you spend 642 units of this nation's currency on Olympic memorabilia.
2. Once on your plane, you and your fellow travelers decide it would be cool to go to the death place of a famous artist. This artist is famous for cutting his ear off and you have heard you can purchase a replica of his ear for only 1000 units of this nation's currency.
3. With replica ear in hand, your party jumps on a plan to bath in the famous (yet toxic) Yamuna River. This wonderful experience will cost you 4052 units of this nation's currency.
4. Next stop is a yellow river, the Huang He River. You and your friends try to steal some of the rocks (a crime) and are fined 6324 units of this money's currency.
5. After being fined you and your friends start arguing about how you should fight the "man, " which reminds you how much you want to visit the sight of the 1917 Revolution. Once you guys arrive at your destination you spend 2631 units of this nation's currency to purchase a replica of the "Reds" leader.
6. The thought of revolution makes your group want to visit another country with an unstable political history. You and your friends find yourself at the sight of the "17th Parallel" buying Bronze Age art for 5,555,645 units of this nation's currency.
7. Since you are in the area, your next stop is at a little place called Phou Bia. This place is riddled with unexploded land mines so you purchase a metal detector for 45,816 units of this nation's currency.
8. The next portion of your trip isn't too far. After a short flight you visit a place who was considered independent fro 1948 to 1962. You are depressed about the living conditions in this country so you decide to buy a sweatshop and employ 5-year old children. This factory costs 50,236 units of this country's currency.
9. You and your friends have become sick of these tiny country and head to the 6th largest country in the world. There you purchase the countries most famous marsupial for 8264 units of that nation's currency.
10. You are finally at the last stop in your trip and your group wants to celebrate. Everyone decides to go to Carnival and spend 4634 units of this nation's currency.

